Review: Critical Thinking

Name _____   Date _____

Your Turn Answer each of the following questions with complete sentences.

1. What does Bloom's Revised Taxonomy show?

_____

_____

2. How can this taxonomy help you deepen or sharpen your thinking?

_____

3. How can a pattern help you remember information?

_____

_____

4. What two graphic organizers can help you understand a topic?

_____

_____

5. How is a set of instructions like or different from an algorithm?

_____

_____

_____

6. Why is writing a set of instructions a way of applying what you know?

_____

_____

7. How can identifying constants and variables help you analyze something?

_____

_____

8. Why is a rubric a valuable evaluation tool?

_____

_____

Reflect: Complete your own comparison about critical thinking, using this example as a guide:

Critical thinking is like an onion because it forms in layers, starting with a core of understanding.