

English Advanced Writing Projects

Reading

News Report

Write a news report describing the outcome of a novel or short story you have read.

Observation Report

Write an observation report of a setting from a novel you've read, adding details from your imagination.

Proposal

Submit a proposal for a new class reading selection.

Letter to the Editor

Write a letter to your school's newsletter or local newspaper either recommending a book or expressing your views on the importance of reading.

Argument Essay

Write an argument essay in which you take the position of a character in a conflict in one of your reading selections.

Research Paper

Write a research paper about a particular author or period of literature.

Writing

News Report

Write a news report about a current event in your school or community.

Observation Report

Write an observation report of one your favorite places in school, at home, or in the community.

Proposal

Write a proposal for your parents, suggesting ways to improve at-home studying conditions.

Business Letter

Write a business letter to apply for a job at a real or fictional business.

Letter to the Editor

Write a letter to the editor of a school or local newspaper about an issue that impacts students at your grade level.

Argument Essay

Write an argument essay in which you take a position on a relevant issue that interests you (performance-enhancing drugs in sports, cuts in music education, video-game violence, and so on).

Research Paper

Write a research paper about a person who inspires you.

Grammar

Proposal

Propose a new word to be included in the next version of the dictionary.

Argument Essay

Write an argument essay explaining why the spelling of a particular word needs to be changed.

Research Paper

Write a research paper about the history of a particular punctuation mark.