

Creating Command Sentences

Most sentences show their subjects and verbs. Command sentences have a hidden subject: You. Watch this video to learn how to make command sentences.

<https://youtu.be/nHgjEUC7c2Q>

Your Turn Convert the following statements into commands by deleting the subject and any helping verbs and starting with the main verb:

1. You will help us clean the house on Saturday.

Clean the house on Saturday.

2. You could empty the dishwasher.

Empty the dishwasher.

3. Mom will assign different jobs to different people.

Assign different jobs to different people.

4. I could sweep the floors.

Sweep the floors.

5. Someone should change the hamster cage.

Change the hamster cage.

6. Everyone will help out in the house.

Help out in the house.

7. We all will wash the car as well.

Wash the car as well.

8. We should wax it so that it shines.

Wax it so that it shines.

9. We will start at 10:00 a.m.

Start at 10:00 a.m.

10. You should get up by 9:00 a.m.

Get up by 9:00 a.m.

- See more at

<http://k12.thoughtfullearning.com/minilesson/creating-command-sentences>