

Forming Pronouns: Possessives and Contractions

Some of the most confusing words are it's and its, who's and whose, they're and their. Which one is possessive? Which is a contraction? This video will help you remember.

https://youtu.be/_IEZnTUDlxY

Your Turn Choose the right word. For each sentence, write down the correct word in parentheses.

1. The couch lost (it's / its) cushions.
2. I think (they're / their) around here somewhere.
3. (Who's / whose) pillow is on the floor?
4. I think that pillow is (her's / hers).
5. All the other sleep-over guests should clean up (they're / their) messes.
6. (It's / Its) still pretty early.
7. Two of the girls got (they're / their) rest.
8. All the others will spend (they're / their) afternoons napping.
9. If (they're / their) tired, (it's / its) because they were up so late.
10. (Who's / Whose) fault is that?

- See more at:

<http://k12.thoughtfullearning.com/minilesson/forming-pronouns-possessives-and-contractions>